

I am a pilot who lives in a small town in north Louisiana. On occasion I fly trips to cities like Houston, which XM provides weather and traffic reports for. It has proven helpful for me to be able to get a feel for the current weather and traffic around the Houston airport just prior to departure by listening to xm on my way to our airport. While I can and do get aviation weather briefs from other reporting stations, I have no other way to monitor the traffic flow in Houston, from north Louisiana.
